The Only Chances of a Race New Are for the Royal Yacht Squadren to Acknowledge the New Beed of Gift or the Eart to Challenge Through Some Other Clab-Ex-Commodore Smith's View of the Matter -Cup Committee Will Meet Again To-day

There was little new in the America's Cup controversy yesterday Beyond some talk of a possible compromise. The Cup Committee did not meet, and no answer to the committee's ca-blegram was received from Lord Dunraven up to a late hour last night. It is understood that after the Cup Committee had finished their session on Monday, H. Maitland Kersey and A. Cass Canfield, Secretary of the Cup Committee, had a conference, at which the explanatory letter that will go to Dunraven by the steamer New York to-day was read to the Earl's American representative. Mr. Kereey therefore fully understands the Cup Committee's position, and the cable from the committe to Dunraven was followed by one from Mr. Kersey suggesting

In his despatch Mr. Kersey stated that, in his ion, the only chance for a match was for the Royal Yacht Equadron to agree to tack on to the receipt for the cup, as demanded by the New York Yacht Club, a declaration to the effect that the cup, if won by the Valkyrie, could be challenged for by any foreign club upon the same conditions that prevailed in said race. This view of the matter was shown to a prominet official of the New York Yacht Club, who, after reading it, said: "I don't think it would answer. The Royal Yacht Squadron proposes to impore the New Deed of Gift, and we on't have it; that is the whole situation in a nutshell. It all rests now with the Royal Yacht Squadron whether we have a race or not." Mr. Kersey later in theday, in speaking of the New Deed of Gift, said: "The mutual agreement clause actually superseded the Deed of Gift in 1892, and the New York Yacht Club did not tumble to this until recently. Now they wish to discard the mutual agreement clause and go back to the terms of the New Deed of

The form of receipt which the Royal Yacht Squadron objects to signing, in case the Valky-rie should happen to win the cup, follows: And the said party of the second part hereby accept he said cup subject to the said trust terms and cond And the said party of the second part hereby accepts the said cup subject to the said trust terms and conditions, and hereby covenants and agrees to and with said party of the frest part that it will faithfully and rully see that the foregoing conditions are fully observed and compiled with by any consestant for the said cup during the holding thereof by it, and that it will saright, transfer, and deliver the said cup to the foreign yacht club whose representative yacht shell have wor the same in accordance with the foreign club shall enter with said party of the second part into the like covenants as are herein entered into by it, such that it is successive assigness to enter in the same covenant with their respective assigners, and to be executed in duplicate, one to be retained by each club, and a copy hereof to be forwarded to the said party of the second party of the s

In speaking of this matter a well-known member of the N. Y. Y. C. said: "While the Cup Committee have granted concession, that I would hardly have made, still they stand eminently fair in the position they have taken in their cable to Lord Dunravel. If he had won the cup or if he does win it, the question would have to come up as to how the receipt for the cup should be signed."

have to come up as to how the receipt for the cup should be signed."

Ex-Commodore James D. Smith, Chairman of the Cup Committee, spent the entire day at his Broad street office yesterday waiting for some reply to his cablegram of Monday, but none came. He thought one would be here either to-day or te-morrow. In speaking of the present hitch in the negotiations between the Earl and the New York Yacht Club, he said:

"Don't think that we are trying to avoid a race, for we are not. The cablegram we sent yesterday to Lord Dunraven is the essence of the letter which was mailed to-day. This we cannot give out until he gets it. In view of the prominence given to the "mutual agreement" clause by Dunraven, who takes the position that it supersedes or nullifies the Deed of Gift, we should be become challengers instead of defenders. It is Dunraven, who maintains that the New Deed of Gift is illegal since the 'mutual agreement' clause was brought into prominence in 1892, and we must now assert our position. Should Dunraven find it impossible to get the Hoyal Yacht Squadron together to frame a new challenge until late in December, I personally think the Cup Committee would make allowances and not insist on the full ten months' notice. In the first place, we did not hold him to the ten months' notice, as we were willing, if possible, to advance the date of the first race.

"I think Lord Dunraven should have confi-which is the custodian of the cup power to make any terms they wish. As that is a question which had to be met it is just as well to meet it now. If they win the cup they can do as they please with it."

"Is there still a chance for a race?" a:-Commodore Smith was saked.

"I think there are good chances open for a race if those on the other side want one. This committee certainly wants a race if they can possibly get one, and I know the members are willing to do anything within reason to bring one about."

willing to do anything within reason to bring one about."

Archibald Rogers, another member of the Cup Committee and the head of the syndicate which built the Colonia, was seen at the Café Savarin yesterday. When asked if he thought a race was probable, he regilied:

"I am sorry to say that matters look very dubious. You know that the Deed of Gift would have to be recognized. As for our decision about the ten months' notice clause, you know that ten months is little enough time to form a syndicate, build a boat, and tune her up into anything like racing trim. I hope his lord-ship will be able to see his way clear to accept our conditions, though, as I said before, a race is by no means certain. Even if he does accept our conditions now, we would have to rush things to get a cup defender ready in time to meet him."

Latham A. Fish, another member of the committes, in speaking of the trouble between Dunraven and the New York Yacht Club, said:
"It is my experience that whenever the Eriglishmen had a yacht which they thought could win a race they sant her over regardless of all win a race they sant her over regardless of all deeds of gift."

A. B. Jones of the New York Yacht Club's House Committee said: "Well, it does look a little doubtful about a race. However, if Lord Duaraven is so anxious to meet us, there is nothing to prevent him from sending his challenge through the Royal Cork, Royal Victoria, or any other yacht club he pleases."

The Cup Committee will meet at Commodore Smith's office to-day, when the formal challenge is expected to arrive by the Teutonic.

AN ENGLISHMAN'S VIEWS. A Rope that a Way May He Found to Break

LONDON, Dec. 11 .- The Morning Post, in comenting on Lord Dunraven's challenge for the America's Cup, will say to-morrow: "The New York Yacht Club's provisional answer to the challenge is not likely to meet Lord Dunraven's objections. If the Cup Committee maintain the position taken under the Deed of Gift of 1887, the proposed match must be abandoned, and the holders of the cup will only abandoned, and the holders of the cup will only have themselves to biame for the course forced upon the challenger.

"It is unforcunate that the Deed of Gift should be introduced again just at the moment when it was confidently expected that a match would be arranged. The Americans must see that English yachtamen will not have snything to do with the document. Nobody knows this better than ex-Commodore Smith of the New York Yacht Club. The ten mouths' notice difficulty could easily be overcome by a mutual arrangement.

"It must be regretted that the Cup Committee has apparently declined to adopt a course in the interest of international yachting. It is to be hoped that a way will be found to escape from the apparent deadlock."

The Opinion of Clyde Eachtsmen.

LONDON, Dec. 11.-The Clyde yachtamen are satisfied with the reply of the New York Yachs Club to Lord Dunraven's challenge, although they think that an eight months' term of notice sould be preferable to a ten months' notice. The consensus of comion among yachtamen is that Carter as captain of the British boat would be preferable to Cranfield.

Berkeley Oval was selected for the annual field meeting. An arrendment lierkeley Oval was selected for the annual field meeting. An amendment to abolish the one-mile walk at this meeting was introduced. According to the rules, action upon the amendment was suspended until the next meeting. It was decided to have four athletes from each sobool in the association to compete in the relay races, the course to be laid over a quarter of a mile track and the distance to be one mile.

The investigating committee's report on the charges of professionalism against a certain school was ordered to be sent to the Advisory Board. It was said after the meeting that the matter would be dropped, with probably a warning to the school accused.

Active Preparations to Push the Blue and White to the Front. The Columbia College Union held a meeting at the College on Monday night and elected the following officers: William T. Lanson, '82, President: J. R. Selligman, '78, Treasurer; Frederick H. Sill, '95, Secretary. Special by-laws were adopted for rowing, and the full powers connected with the management of the university and freshmen crews were intrusted to a committee of three, composed of one graduate and two undergraduates. Those elected for the committee were: Guy Richards, '87; Frederick H. Sill, '95, and John H. Prentice, '97. This committee will have the arrangement and gov-ernment of everything, such as the gymnasium, training quarters, &c. Their only limitations are money and those things which are contained in the constitution of the union, such a challenges and choice of candidates.

A similar code of by-laws was adopted for the track athletic team, and the following committee was appointed on monagement: William Manice, '82; F. L. Pell, '95; H. J. Chatain, '96.

Manice, '82: F. L. Pell, '95: H. J. Chatain, '96, Among other committees appointed were: Manice and Seligman, to have charge of the general finances: Manice and Mekkeham, to draw up by-laws of general athletics, embracing the above by-laws. The managers of the university crew and track athletic team, with Trainer Stone, were appointed a committee to have charge of the gymnasium.

The union decided to take care of the championship cup of the class football games, which was presented by the class of '82, and will see that it is put in the library. The board walk will be paid for out of the treasury of the union, and a request will be made that the President allow the privileges to the track athletic team which he has withdrawn.

A meeting of all candidates of the 'varsity crew will be held next Weinesday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock, at which the undergraduates will meet the graduates, who have consented to do their best for a university crew at Columbia.

months' notice. In the first place, we did not hold him to the ten months' notice, as we were willing, if possible, to advance the date of the first race.

"I think Lord Dunraven should have confidence enough in the committee to know that they will grant all the concessions possible to bring about a fair race. In any event a receipt for the cup would have to be signed whether it was won under the New Deed or the terms proposed by Lord Dunraven, as legally it could not be delivered until we had the Royal Yacht Squadron's receipt for it. We cannot change the Deed, as neither the committee nor the club can take away or add anything to its conditions. The 'mutual agreement' clause gives any club which is the custodian of the cup power to make any terms they wish. As that is a unsert, we will be set for a university crew at Columbia.

The chess tournament at the college was finished yesterday, and these two men will represent the institution in the intercollegiate struggle: Price and Binion. Simpson is the real value of another college he cannot take part in the big context. Under intercollegiate rules, a college may be represented by one graduate, who has not let olieze more than three years are to be chosen for the team. Efforts in that Direction Are Being Made by the Old Club's Cricketers, The cricketers of the Staten Island A. C., nothing daunted by the failure and disbanding of their parent body, mean to make another effort for auccess next year. It is understood that they have made arrangements for the use of the grounds and club property, and, if they can obtain sufficient backing, will again launch forth as a prominent organization. The cricketers have long contemplated building up the late athletic club, and they have some energetic offi-cers to direct their efforts. The Staten Island Cricket Club is their only rival in the mear vicinity, but as the latter has no running track, they will hardly interfers with those who might join for training purposes. The track can be put in good order at little expense, while the tennis courts, which were ready last year, can be got ready at a week's notice. It is thought that there are a sufficient number of residents of Staten Island to support the two clubs. The cricketers of the S. L.A. TO MAKE CANOING MORE POPULAR. Advocating the Methods that Have Seen

Proposed by The San. The London Field of Dec. 1 comments upon the proposed changes in the racing rules of the American Canoe Association as follows: Gradually, but more the less surely, a reaction is apreading among cancemen toward fostering a useful type of cance. The difference of opinion at the pre-ent time appears to be userely as to the mode of carry-ing out the reformation. We last week commented upon Mr. Tredwen's suggestion, set forth in his letter which we published, that "racing classification should be dropped" and "all races be handleaps," and we pointed out that handloapping is simply an arbitrary levelling of all that is good and expert in boat and man to the standard of the had and the duffer. Po-sably the inspiration of this suggested mode of reviv-ing the useful cance was wafted from over the Atlaning the useful cance was waited from over the Alianlio by the mails of lest week, for we now have before us the official report of the Executive Committee meeting of the American Cance Association, which was held at Albany on the 18th of lest month. At that meeting it was resolved that "the Regatta Committee shall make all races as far as possible handleap races, except the trophy and record races, and that the handicasping be made in difference of time in starting."

As to whether such a movement of change will be at the trophy and record races, and that the handrapping be made in difference of time in starting."

As to whether such a movement of change will be ratily in America, we offer any of the contraction of the starting in America, is, taken proportionately, much the same as in Engind at the present time, and probably the objections to handleap racing as an antitudes in England would apply with equal force in America, but this we leave to the A. C. Association to solve. The object in view

It will be seen that the Field condemns the proposed handecapping scheme, and recommends a cruising class as the best means of reviving canoes acid by Ten Sus for the past two years as the only feasible way to increase the interest in American canoing. It was discussed at length in these columns test August, soon after the annual meet, and again last month, after the meeting of the Executive Committee at Albany. Until it is adopted in some form or other there is little hope for a revival of canoe racing in either country.

made the attendance very light at the track to-day. The first race was run at 1:30 o'clock and the rain ceased before the second race was called, but left the track heavy. It was an even thing between the talent and the bookies in the betting. David, in the third race, was a good thing for the bettors at 15 to 1 in the opening pools, closing at odds of 8 to 1. The first race was a walk over for Black Hawk, who got four lengths the best of the flag. The third race had but six entries, and was an easy thing for David, who showed himself a good mud horse. Why She Should Not Send a Crew to Hea-ley, from a Cornell Point of View,

ITHACA, Dec. 11.-There was an important meeting of the Cornell Athletic Council last night, which lasted until early this morning. There was an election of a football manager fo next year, and a communication from the University of Pennsylvania, which asked whether Cornell was favorably disposed toward the idea of Pennsylvania also sending a crew to take part in the Henley regatts, was discussed. Frederick White of Cleveland, a senior law tudent, was elected football manager for '95, White played half back on the '93 eleven, and this year was assistant manager of the elevan. The communication from Pennsylvania was thoroughly discussed, and all the arguments appeared to be that Cornell was decidedly averse to Pennsylvania crossing the water this year and taking part in the Henley regatta. The matter was finally put to a vote, and it was unanimously resolved that Cornell would prefer to row Pennsylvania this year in America. The Sun representative had a talk this afternoon with Graduate Treasurer and Trustee R. H. Treman, Sur representative had a talk this afternoon with Graduate Treasurer and Trustee R. H. Treman, who is also an influential member of the Athletic Council, and this is what he said relative to the Pennsylvanians going to Henley:

"At first glance it might seem to some persons that Cornell has taken a rather narrow view of the subject, but if they knew all the particulars in the case they might think differently. Cornell has spent much time and money in gathering all the dates, &c., pertaining to the Henley regatts, and it has been made public for the last ten years. We have rowed Pennsylvania and defeated them each year. We have shown, I think, our sportsmanship in meeting year after year an oppoint whom we were certain we could defeat. This year we choose to send a crew to kngland and race in the Henley regatts, and it his step was taken with an object in view. We also offered to turn out snother crew to row Pennsylvania, however, puts forth the claim that it will be a second crew, and if they are successful no giorr will be attached to the victory. If we are willing to risk our reputation, they should be the last to object. But in truth we will not be putting out an infector crew to meet Pennsylvania. The crew which goes to Henley will be accomen only the one which will row in this country. A large number of our best carsmen will be charred from going to Europe because of the curious regularions that the Englishmen impose. Taking this fact into considered the second crew.

"One objection to Pennsylvania entering the Henley pregutate is that the contestants have to land will be considered the second crew.

One objection to fremsylvania entering the Henley regatia is that the contestants have to choose lots for opponents in the first heat, which would be extremely awkward. There are other good reasons, which I am not at liberty to mane, why they should not visit England this year, If they choose to go in 1800, they could do so with all good grace, but I do not think they could go this year, and further, I don't think after they become aware of our committee's decision in the matter that they will give the matter any further consideration, as the relations between the two universities have always been of a cordial nature, I believe that with our assurance that we propose to select a first-class crew especially to row them, and are willing to take all the consequences of a defeat, they will con-especially to row them, and are willing to take all the consequences of a defeat, they will con-sent to our plan.

"As an illustration of Pennsylvania's position, let me say this: Suppose that Yale next spring defeats Harvard and the next fall decides to go to Europe. Immediately Harvard says We will go, too." Certainly Harvard would have no claim to go across. So in this case."

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 11.-The receipts from the three big football games played by the University of Pennsylvania team this year were $65,381.75, and the expenses for the same were $20,457.09. The net profits from these games were $22,451.87, an equal amount being divided between the other three colleges. The receipts from other games make the year's profits reach nearly $30,000.

J. Kellar, New Orieans—It is possible to tally 15% with two strikes and three spares. A strike counts ten, to which is added the score made on the second ball in the following frame. When two strikes are made in succeeding frames, the first counts twenty to which is added the pins made on the first ball of the next frame rolled. A spare also counts ten, and to this is added the pins knocked down by the first ball in the following frame. When seventy-three is scored in the first frame, and the second reads 14%, the latter number includes the total for both frames.

Fournit Will Concede Odds to Gallagher

Edward Fournii, the French billiardist, made a match yesterday afternoon with Thomas Gallagher of Chicago, whom he defeated at cushion carrouns last week, to play balk-line billiards at Daly's Acade for six sights for $250 a side. Fourall will endeavor in this game to concede to Gallagher odds of 1,509 in 3,000 points. The Frenchman thinks that he can average thirty at the game, Gallagher made a grand average of fifteen in his game with Edward McLaughin, the champion of Penneylvania, and he thinks that he can do the same with Fouraid. The match will begin next Monday night.

MONTCLAIR, Dec. 11 .- Samuel Fell, 11 years old, and Harry Srull, 9 years old, of Newark, came here this morning to sell shoe laces. They stopped at the home of Mrs. Henry Brooks of #8 Orange avenue, and she bought twenty-five cents worth of laces. In paying the boys she dropped $50. She missed the money before the boys left, and asked them if they had taken it. One of the boys held up his hands and said: "So help me gracious, we would not touch the money." Mrs. Brooks let the boys go and sent for the pointe. The hors were arrested and the money found on them. The Recorder sent them to Newser fortrial.

Who Was This Man!

A well-dressed man about 28 years old was found dead seated on the doorstep of 51 Leroy street by a milkman early yesterday morning. There was nothing by which he could be identified. He wore a black sack coat and waistcoat, gray striped trollants, and white woollen underwear. Nothing of value was found steep! a cantoo ring and a jeweller's check for a gold watch. The body was taken to the Morgoe, healt was due to heart disease.

WANTED A YOUNGER PRESIDENT.

Ten Friendly Sons of St. Patrick Resign Because They Couldn't Get One, Because of the reflection of John C. Kelley as President of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick of Brooklyn, at the annual meeting a week ago, ten of the oldest members of the society have re-signed. They are: Ex-Fire Commissioner Bernard Gallagher, Postmaster Sullivan, John Gal-lagher, principal of the Training School for Teachers in Ryerson street; James Keenan, Peter Comerford, James Cusack, ex-Judge Thomas Kenna, Richard Healey, Thomas Bur-kett, and Michael Loughran. They say they be-leve that a younger man should have been put as the head of the organization to infuse new blood into it.

The opposition to Mr. Kelley manifested itself just a year ago, when he was a candidate for re-election. It is said the trouble is not of a political nature. The older members of the organization want younger men at the helm. When Mr. Kelley's election was announced some of his opponents left the room, and on the following day the ten resignations were sent to the Secretary.

Fostmaster Sullivan said last night: "When some of the old members made suggestions regarding the last election they were ignored, and then they thought it time to get out. The organization is purely for patriotic and social purposes, and there is no feeling between the men who have resigned and those who are still members. All of them have been life-long friends."

She Remembers Washington's Beath, KENT, O., Dec. 11 .- Priscilla D. Spooner was

101 years old to-day and celebrated her birthday by having her photograph taken. She lives with her daughter, Mrs. Edward Sawyer, on Lake street, and is remarkably active. She spends street, and is remarkably active. She spends most of her time in reading books and newspapers. She is a daughter of Capt. Judah Delano of the seaport town of Duxbury, Massa, where she was born on Dec. 11, 1793. She distinctly remembers standing at a window of her father's house in Portland, Me., with crape on her arm, and watching the procession in commemoration of the death of Washington in 1799. In school at Portland Mrs. Spooner was a classmate of Nathaulel P. Willis, of whom she speaks as a bright boy who was always at the head of his class.

Wenona Gilman Suco "Outlag." Florence Schoeffel has brought a suit against the Outing Company, limited, in the Court of Common Pleas, in which she seeks to recover $10,000 damages for an alleged fraudulent publication of a novel written by her under the name ication of a novel written by her under the name of Wenona Gilman. She avers that it was represented to her that the publication had a certain large circulation, and that she discovered after her novel was printed that its circulation was not one-seventh of what had been represented. Judge Bischoff granted yesterday an application made by the defendant for a bill of particulars, and ordered that the plaintiff specify who made the alleged false representations. tions.

No More Religious Exercises in Ausonio Ansonia, Conn., Dec. 11 .- A religious war here was stopped last night by the Board of Education voting to omit all religious exercises in the tion voting to omit all religious exercises in the public schools. The question has been exciting considerable interest, and began because Miss Bradley of the Park row school punished the child of Catholic parents because he refused to say the concluding portion of the Lord's Prayer with the other pupils. Miss Bradley referred the matter to Superintendent Angleton, who brought it before the Board.

Found Injured and Dying in a Freight Cap. WORCESTER, Mass., Dec. 11 .- A man who was found in an unconscious condition in a freight car in the Boston and Albany Railroad yard on Saturday evening died at the City Hospital this morning. His clothes contained the names R. L. Vaill, J. H. Vaill, and C. H. Vaill. The police believe he was struck by a car or switch while looking from the car door. The railroad men believe the man was assaulted by tramps, as two men were seen to leave the car just before he was found. The body is awaiting identification.

ake that a War Ship Be Named Gloucester. GLOUCESTER, Mass., Dec. 11.-Mayor Cook of this city has sent the following letter to the Secretary of the Navy: retary of the Navy:

DRAS Sin: In our anniversary year, 1891, the city of Gloucester wrote to your department to have oun of the war ships maned Gloucester for our city; and as that time the department at Washington blocked favorably upon the request. The city of Gloucester is he largest nursery for seamen in the world, and it seems but just that one of the war ships should bear the name of Gloucester. I trust you will give this matter your favorable consideration and that the next war ship launched may bear that name.
